The biggest , the most colourful, the most contentious and perhaps the most expensive general election are finally over. During this period, governance had clearly taken a back seat as all decisions, except the routine ones, had come to a stand-still. Now that the electioneering is done and dusted, hopefully for another five years, the new government will focus on the urgent needs of governance to put India's slowing economy back on a fast growth track.

I am writing this article before the results are out but given the exit polls, it seems that the ruling party is coming back to power for another five years. And they have been preparing for it and had been sounding out different stakeholders both official and unofficial on "big ideas for decisive action as part of their 100 Days plan as the new government. By chance, I engaged with some stakeholders on this question and was asked for my thoughts.

There are good reasons why the 'Heart of Asia conference, part of a 14-nation process begun in 2011 to facilitate the development and security of Afghanistan, is so named. The obvious one is geographical, as Afghanistan lies at the junction of Central, South and East Asia , and also of the ancient trading routes from China and India to Europe . Today it is also a focal point for the region's biggest challenge of terrorism, some of the far-reaching battles against al Qaeda, Islamic State, etc. will be decided on the battlegrounds of Afghanistan. For India, putting terror centre stage at the Heart of Asia declaration in Amritsar was thus timely and necessary. In tandem, Afghan President Ashraf Ghani and Prime Minister Narendra Modi focused their concerns on cross-border terrorism emanating from Pakistan, something even Pakistan's traditional allies at the conference , including China, Saudi Arabia, the UAE and Turkey, found difficult to counter. The case Mr. Ghani made was clear :

progress and development in Afghanistan are meaningless and unsustainable without peace, and peace is contingent on Pakistan ending support to terror groups such the Haqqani network and Lashkar-e-Taiba. He dared Pakistan to use its proposed development grant to Afghanistan to fight terror on its own soil.

However, if every window for engagement with Pakistan is closed for India and Afghanistan, the two countries must closely consider what their next step will be . A lack of engagement may, in the short term, yield some pressure on Pakistan's leadership to act, as it did briefly after the Pathankot attack. But in the long run it may deplete the two counties of their limited leverage as Pakistan's neighbors. It may, for all the affirmations of mutual ties, also sauce in driving more obstacles to trade between India and Afghanistan .

In the past year, the cornering of Pakistan by its South Asian neighbor's has only yielded deeper ties for Islamabad with Beijing and Moscow, pushed Kabul closer to Central Asia , and moved New Delhi towards multilateral groupings to the east and south. As a result, the measures India and Afghanistan have envisaged in order to avoid Pakistan, such as land trade from the Chabahar port and a dedicated air corridor between Delhi and Kabul, may prove to be insufficient by the time they are put in place , even as Afghanistan is connected more closely via a line from China's Yiwu and Tehran. The Heart of Asia process thus remains critical to forging cooperation to realise Afghanistan's potential to be a vibrant Asian "hub"
