Synopsis

The violence appeared to be lessening. Still, the office of Interior Minister Gerald Darmanin said 45,000 police officers would again be deployed in the streets to counter anger over discrimination against people who trace their roots to former French colonies and live in low-income neighborhoods. Nahel is of Algerian descent and was shot in the Paris suburb of Nanterre.

The grandmother of the French teenager shot dead by police during a traffic stop pleaded Sunday for rioters to stop after five nights of unrest, while authorities expressed outrage at an attack on a suburban mayor's home that injured family members.

Mumbai: Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) Working President Supriya Sule with party leaders, at the NCP office, in Mumbai. (PTI Photo)

Party President Supriya Sule said late on Sunday that even though the NCP MLAs including cousin Ajit Pawar have supported the Shinde-BJP government, they remain close to her because the 'NCP is a family'.

"Professional and personal lives are different. In my mind, my brother (Ajit) will always remain as my elder brother and I will continue to have affection for him... Dada (Ajit) is my brother so I will always remain with him and Pawar Sahab (Sharad Pawar) is also my father I will always remain with him. We both (Ajit and her) are mature enough that we can compartmentalise party and personal relations," said Supriya Sule in a press conference.

Sule wanted to wait for 'the story to unfold' and hinted that the Sharad Pawar faction is hoping that the Ajit Pawar faction comes back to the fold. "It's just 12 hours (since Ajit's rebellion) let it unfold." Like her cousin Ajit Pawar, Sule was also cagey about how many NCP MLAs were with her father's faction.

Wimbledon is no ordinary tennis tournament. Played on one of the game's two natural surfaces, The Championships is one event that every child that picks up a racquet dreams of winning. The resplendent green lawns, the spotless white attires and how the two combine to immaculately fill the television screens of fans worldwide only add to the allure. It was thus no surprise that even when Wimbledon was stripped of ranking points last year for barring Russian and Belarusian players against the backdrop of the Russia-Ukraine war, it did not acquire the look and feel of a glorified exhibition event. Rafael Nadal underwent radio-frequency treatment on his leg to ensure participation; Serena Williams came out of semi-retirement and a pantheon of stars, including Rod Laver and Billie Jean King, gathered to celebrate the iconic Centre Court's centenary. The significance of data in influencing policy constructs and thereon, decisions, is non-contestable. The country takes periodic stock of various parameters just to inform welfare policies better. In context, the recent decision of the Union government to drop the disability-specific question from the National Family Health Survey (NFHS)-6 seems churlish and sends out wrong signals. After years of campaigning for the same, activists rejoiced when the government added one question on disability in the NFHS-5, and were hopeful that this would be built upon in subsequent versions of the nation-wide survey.

A mirror to the world

France is burning, literally. Universally, social unrest is ever incipient, flowing as an undercurrent to surface from time to time, but triggered differently in each nation. The common thread is deep-seated social and economic problems, entrenched poverty, crime, racial discrimination and educational underperformance.
